MY PRACTICAL PHASES

MY RESEARCHES

Research

You can approach the research in small groups if you are interested in the same career fields. The research can take place online and analogously in books.

Steps:

Look for information on the career fields that are options for your career field explorations!

You will find ideas here for focal points in your research, which can be supplemented by your questions and concerns.

I am looking for these career fields or occupational focuses:

I can probably find general information about this here:

The type of general information I want to find first is (Apprenticeship, Degree/Studies, Earning potential, Tasks and activities, etc.):

I will most likely find information for my region, specific institutions or companies (in the town, in the city where I live) here:

The information on the specific institutions or companies must in any case include:

What about social media channels like Instagram, Facebook, Twitter, and others?
Are the institutions or companies you looked for also found here? How do they present themselves?
What do they post? What else can you find out?

MY PRACTICAL PHASES

What else do you want/need to find out before the career field explorations?

For example: "How do I register for the career field explorations? Are there certain forms or portals for this? Where do I get them?" etc.

Use this space for your additional information and/or further questions:

REWARD:

FINDING MATCHING ACTIVITIES FOR YOURSELF!

Career field being sought:

Who/what are the informants (sources) of information about this career field:

Which activities best describe the career field:

With these personal skills or traits, you can get a good track on the career field:

The following objects provide important clues about the career field (e.g., certain tools, special clothing):
